

REPORT ON THE ONE-DAY WORKSHOP ON NAAC ACCREDITATION PROCESS HELD ON 25TH MAY, 2019

The IQAC, University of Mysore jointly with the Planning, Monitoring and Evaluation Board (PMEB) organized a day long workshop on the process of NAAC accreditation on 25th May 2019. The focus of this workshop was to familiarize all the Deans of the Faculties, Chairpersons of departments and senior professors of the university with the new accreditation parameters and formats introduced during 2018. This workshop was envisaged to be the first stage of preparation for data compilation and processing with regard to the fourth cycle of accreditation of the university.

The workshop started at 10.00 AM with a welcome note by Prof. Yashavantha Dongre, Director, PMEB. He also mentioned that the workshop is part of the series of quality initiatives initiated by IQAC with support from PMEB and both these bodies will work in tandem as the university seeks reaccreditation.

The workshop was inaugurated by Prof. G. Hemanth Kumar, Vice Chancellor of the university. In his inaugural address he stressed on the need for the University of Mysore to maintain its standards and move from Tier II Autonomy to Tier I Autonomy. He underscored the importance of collective efforts by all the teaching and non-teaching staff to facilitate the accreditation process.

Prof. Lingaraj Gandhi, the then Registrar of the University, in his address looked back at the past cycles of accreditation and how the university was able to continuously maintain high levels in all accreditations. He emphasized that as a century old university, it is important for the university to further improve on its performance.

The resource person for the workshop was Prof. Vishnukanth Chatpalli, Professor of Management, Rani Chennamma University and former Advisor of NAAC. He dealt in details both about the mechanism of accreditation and the kind of preparation required for achieving higher level of accreditation. His presentation was in two sessions one before and the other after a lunch interval. Both the sessions were highly interactive and the participants raised questions and clarified their doubts and sought suggestions from the resource person. Prof. Chatpally, with his practical experience and insights was able to impress upon the participants on the need for and stages of preparations and participations on the part of the faculty and staff.

The workshop ended with closing observations and vote of thanks proposed by Prof. D.S.Guru, Director, IQAC. He observed that IQAC will continue to keep interacting with all the divisions and persons of the university and is always ready to clarify any doubt and provide any support required to help them participate actively and effectively in the process of ensuing accreditation. 150 members participated in this event.

The participants were of the view that the workshop has set the right tone towards gearing up for accreditation and it helped them in understand the mechanism of accreditation as well as their expected roles in that process.
